Bold Robbing In Daylight of New York Jeweler

New York, June 2.—(By Associated Press.)—Four armed highwaymen entered the jewelry store of Mandell Greenhaus, on the lower east side today, held him up at the point of a revolver, beat him senseless when he resisted, looted his new safe of $4,000 in gems, locked him in the shop and escaped. Greenhaus staggered to his feet, smashed the glass panel of the locked door and crawling through, gave the alarm.

COURT NOTES

Appointed Administrator.

Florence Dinkins was appointed administrator of the estate of William Dinkins in Probate court Saturday. A bond in the sum of $2250 was given.

Worthen Will Filed.

The will of the late James Worthen was filed for probate Monday. All the real estate is devised to the six sons, three, Charles, George and James, getting what is known as the ohme place, consisting of about 139 acres, located in Huntington township, to be divided among themselves in fee simple. To a son, Grover, is bequeathed the "Tuvell" farm of -03 acres; to a son, Clyde, what is known as the "McKellar" farm and part of the "Lowe" land adjoining, comprising about 180 acres in all; and to Frank is left 90 acres, comprising what is known as the "Gillett" land two adjoining tracts.

From the personalty of the estate, the daughters are to be paid the following amounts: Hattie Haynes, $100; Anna Watters, $100; Stella Colburn, $100; Katie Baxter, $150; and to the two granddaughters, Ethel and Iva Rinehart, $50 each. Should the personal estate fail to cover the above bequests, the balance is to be a lien upon the part of the real estate known as the "Home" farm.

The three sons, Charles, George and James, are named executors, without bond. The will is lated December 30, 1909.

Sunday's Storm.
